

THE 2021 SPRING MUSIC RECITALS

MUSIC GROUPS

This Spring's Music Recitals features four of our Music Projects small groups: the Flute Quartet, Pop Music Combo, Jazz Combo and the Clarinet Quartet. The Music Projects course has many goals, among them are: keeping musicians focused, playing/practicing to strengthen their ensemble playing, and allowing the musicians to play in more intimate group settings where their parts are more exposed and need the critical technical attention required when not supported by larger groups/ensembles. Of course, we also play because we love creating and expressing ourselves through the music!

THE 2021 SONGWRITING CLASS

This quarter we produced 10 original tracks for our album. 10! Each song is a reflection of weeks of workshopping, feedback, and iteration. Each is the result of hard-earned artistry, unrestrained self-doubt, deep internal searching, and friendly collaboration. Don't miss the exciting release. 😊

THANK YOU!

A few special thank you's...first and foremost, to these amazing musicians; thank you so very much for your time, your talents, and your patience with my insistent emailing! Next, a giant thank you to Alexandra Simmons for sharing her talent with the Clarinet Quartet and the UHS community. And lastly, a big thank you and shout-out to UHS' long-time music director and all-around music maestro, Tim Price, for contributing the arrangement for the Clarinet Quartet of When I'm 64.
